This Great Institution At The Service of Seed Buyers

WE have taken this space that could be filled with special seed offers, to show you that you get something more for your money than just seed, when ordering Salzer's seeds.

What you receive in every package, ounce or bushel of seed ordered from John A. Salzer Seed Company, besides the exact quantity of seed needed, is an unexcelled quality, which means that your work in planting and cultivating will produce a bumper crop of prize-winning vegetables and flowers.

Such quality is the basis of our growth from a tiny shed and plot of ground in 1868 to the immense buildings and the vast acres of Cliffwood Farms shown on this page. Quality has been the watch-word of three generations of seedsmen. It is quality that can be produced only in Northern Grown seed, thoroughly cleaned by the most modern of machinery, tested and retested by three different methods.

The pictures on the left showing a few interiors of our different departments, are a convincing demonstration of the care taken to give prompt service and to assure the highest quality of seed to our hundreds of thousands of customers.

We take this precaution and have invested this immense sum of money in buildings, machinery and land, for only one reason—it pays to maintain the Salzer standard of Quality. You know it would have been impossible for us to hold our customers—some of them have ordered Salzer's seeds for fifty years—to gain thousands of new customers every year, through the recommendation and introduction of our old customers, and to grow to be the largest mail order seed house, if we did not give better quality, better value and better service.

We want your seed orders, whether you buy for a small garden, a truck garden or a farm. On the inside we have listed, described and priced the flower, vegetable and field seeds that we have found best through actual experience. These are the cream of our catalog and are placed in this special introductory and advertising offer to convince you that Salzer's Seeds are not only the highest in quality but also the best values, the biggest dollar's worth that your money can buy.

As you look over the other pages and compare the offerings made with any others, remember that Salzer's Seeds are backed by a reputation for quality of fifty-seven years' standing, by an immense investment in buildings and equipment, by the experience of hundreds of thousands of steady customers in every corner of America.

When you "Sow Salzer's Seeds" you will realize what quality seeds mean.
